

Table 20a. Systematic Review on Pregnancy, Labour, and Breastfeeding Behaviours After SCI

Author, Year; Country Score Research Design Total Sample Size	Methods	Results
Vieira et al. 2023 Portugal Systematic Review N=22 papers	Objective: A systematic review of the literature regarding the anesthetic management, major complications and outcomes of pregnant quadriplegic patients was performed. Population: 22 Papers, Mean maternal age: 30 Methodology: Medline, PubMed, and Cochrane	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Twenty-four deliveries (59%) were vaginal and 17 (41%) were caesarean sections 2. Epidural analgesia was administered in (68%) participants, no analgesia (24%), 2 received local analgesia/anesthesia and one patient a combination of spinal-epidural analgesia 3. 37 pregnancies in which data on AD were available, there was a description of such symptoms in 19 (51%).